

D2 – Marcio Paulo

I worked on a basic prototype of the app, which included making some template classes for the clothing data structure. Had some trouble with android studio. This included creating a new clothing item, and assigning it some attributes. Its very barebones but allows us to see how a add clothing page may work.